

ABSTRACT

A cleaning device (1) with a distributing surface (2) to effect a flat distribution of a cleaning or disinfectant fluid is provided, and includes a fluid outlet that is connected via a fluid line to a fluid reservoir containing a cleaning or disinfectant fluid. The cleaning device makes it possible for the application of cleaning or disinfectant fluid with an even faster and easier process, with the device still being easy to manufacture. The fluid outlet of the device is provided in the form of a spray strip that has a number of outlet openings distributed along the length of the strip and the spray strip is removably fastened to the cleaning device.